

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA
COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO

BO SHANG (In Pro Per),
Plaintiff,

v.

TWITCH INTERACTIVE, INC.;
IMANE "POKIMANE" ANYS;
POKIMANE LLC,

Defendants.

Case No.: [To Be Assigned]

Initial Complaint

FOR:

1. Injunctive Relief
2. Damages
3. Declaratory Judgment
4. Breach of Contract
5. Breach of Express Warranty
6. Violations of the Consumers Legal Remedies Act (CLRA) [Cal. Civ. Code § 1750 et seq.]
7. Violations of the False Advertising Law (FAL) [Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17500 et seq.]
8. Violations of the Unfair Competition Law (UCL) [Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq.]
9. Negligent or Reckless Misrepresentation
10. Intentional or Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

Plaintiff, BO SHANG ("Plaintiff"), appearing pro se, hereby files this Initial Complaint against TWITCH INTERACTIVE, INC. ("Twitch"), IMANE "POKIMANE" ANYS ("Pokimane"), and POKIMANE LLC

(collectively, “Defendants”), and alleges on personal knowledge as to his own acts and on information and belief as to all other matters as follows:

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 This action arises from Defendants’ alleged violations of California statutory and common law, including but not limited to the Unfair Competition Law (“UCL”) (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq.), the False Advertising Law (“FAL”) (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17500 et seq.), the Consumers Legal Remedies Act (“CLRA”) (Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1750 et seq.), common law breach of contract, breach of express warranty, misrepresentation, and related theories.

1.2 Plaintiff contends that Twitch, in partnership with high-profile streamers such as Pokimane, has engaged in or facilitated unfair, deceptive, or unlawful practices under California law, including but not limited to:

1.2.1 Advertising intangible subscription benefits such as “undying love and appreciation,” which were never actually provided to Plaintiff;

1.2.2 Restricting user investigations and reverse engineering (“RE”) attempts that could detect or expose suspicious large-scale financial transactions or potential money laundering on the platform.

1.3 Specifically, Plaintiff alleges he was induced to purchase subscriptions by relying on Twitch’s and Pokimane’s advertised claims, and that he suffered emotional distress and economic harm when those promises went unfulfilled or were misrepresented.

1.4 Moreover, Plaintiff contends that Twitch’s Terms of Service (“TOS”) hamper legitimate security research and investigations into potentially unlawful gambling or money-laundering activity, contravening well-established public policy and case law in California that protects reverse engineering in fair-use and security contexts. (See, e.g., Sega Enters. Ltd. v. Accolade, Inc. (9th Cir. 1992) 977 F.2d 1510; Sony Computer Entm’t, Inc. v. Connectix Corp. (9th Cir. 2000) 203 F.3d 596; cf. 17 U.S.C. § 1201(g) (DMCA exemption for encryption research); Tunkl v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (1963) 60 Cal.2d 92; Civ. Code § 1668.)

2. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

2.1 Subject Matter Jurisdiction

2.1.1 This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter because the amount in controversy exceeds $25,000, and Plaintiff’s claims arise under California statutory and common law, including the UCL (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §

17200), the FAL (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17500), and the CLRA (Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1750 et seq.).
 2.1.2 Although federal courts might have jurisdiction over certain claims (e.g., alleged violations of federal anti-money-laundering laws under 18 U.S.C. §§ 1956, 1960), Plaintiff elects to pursue his claims under California law in the Superior Court, which has concurrent jurisdiction over the state-based causes of action.

2.2 Venue

2.2.1 Venue is proper under California Code of Civil Procedure §§ 395 and 395.5 because Twitch has its principal place of business in San Francisco, California, or conducts substantial business within this forum. Additionally, a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to these claims occurred or emanated from the County of San Francisco.

3. THE PARTIES

3.1 Plaintiff

3.1.1 Plaintiff, Bo Shang, is a resident of Massachusetts. He has been a user of Twitch since approximately 2017. He purchased and renewed Twitch subscriptions to Pokimane’s channel, in part due to specific marketing claims and product descriptions concerning “love and appreciation.”

3.2 Defendants

3.2.1 Twitch Interactive, Inc., a Delaware corporation, maintains its principal place of business in California. Twitch operates the streaming platform used by millions of content creators, including Pokimane.

3.2.2 Imane “Pokimane” Anys is a highly prominent Twitch content creator. Pokimane earns significant revenue from subscription fees, donations, and brand partnerships. She markets her streams and subscription benefits in conjunction with Twitch’s platform and subscription interface.

4. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

4.1 Twitch Platform and Potential Unlawful Activities

4.1.1 Plaintiff alleges that Twitch fosters large-scale suspicious financial transactions—often disguised as donations or tips—that may be de facto gambling or money-laundering. Such transactions potentially implicate Cal. Penal Code §

330 (prohibiting certain gambling activities) and 18 U.S.C. §§ 1956, 1960 (federal anti-money-laundering provisions).

4.1.2 Twitch’s TOS restrict or prohibit reverse engineering, effectively shielding potential illegal conduct from user-led detection. These restrictions allegedly contravene California’s public policy favoring fair-use security research.

(See Sega Enters. Ltd. v. Accolade, Inc. (9th Cir. 1992) 977 F.2d 1510; Sony Computer Entm’t, Inc. v. Connectix Corp. (9th Cir. 2000) 203 F.3d 596; Tunkl v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (1963) 60 Cal.2d 92; Civ. Code § 1668; see also A & M Produce Co. v. FMC Corp. (1982) 135 Cal.App.3d 473 (discussing contractual unconscionability).)

4.1.3 Pokimane benefits from or participates in the Twitch monetization and donation system. Whether or not she directly engages in wrongdoing, her large-scale revenue streams exemplify the environment where suspicious or unregulated transactions may take place.

4.2 Pokimane’s Role and Promised Subscription Benefits

4.2.1 Pokimane’s popularity is heavily promoted by Twitch. Her channel often advertises “subscriber benefits,” including special emoticons, badges, and—per the marketing language used—“undying love and appreciation.”

4.2.2 Plaintiff subscribed to Pokimane’s channel believing these representations to be genuine. On information and belief, the words “undying love and appreciation” appeared (or were verbally stated) in promotional content or subscription tiers, forming part of the contractual inducement.

4.2.3 Plaintiff alleges that he was emotionally vulnerable at the time and became “madly in love” with Pokimane. He believed that, by subscribing, he was contracting for a certain level of personal engagement or affection—albeit intangible—beyond mere entertainment.

4.2.4 Contrary to these promises, neither Twitch nor Pokimane delivered any actual “undying love and appreciation.” Plaintiff was devastated emotionally and claims that this advertising was deceptive, fraudulent, and/or constituted a breach of the subscription contract.

(Compare Consumer Advocates v. EchoStar Satellite Corp. (2003) 113 Cal.App.4th 1351, 1361; see also In re Toyota Motor Corp. Unintended Acceleration Mktg., Sales Practices, & Prod. Liab. Litig. (C.D. Cal. 2011) 754 F.Supp.2d 1145, 1173 (distinguishing actionable misrepresentations from non-actionable puffery).)

4.3 Reverse Engineering Restrictions and Public Policy

4.3.1 The importance of reverse engineering in cybersecurity is well recognized.

(See Sega Enters. Ltd. v. Accolade, Inc. (9th Cir. 1992) 977 F.2d 1510; Sony Computer Entm't, Inc. v. Connectix Corp. (9th Cir. 2000) 203 F.3d 596; see also Vault Corp. v. Quaid Software Ltd. (5th Cir. 1988) 847 F.2d 255 (regarding EULAs and public policy).)

4.3.2 Plaintiff contends Twitch's draconian TOS hamper lawful investigations into the platform's data flows, stifling potential discoveries of wrongdoing (money laundering or fraud). This TOS stance may violate California's fundamental public policies, as recognized under the UCL (Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200) and the principle that contract provisions cannot contravene established law or public policy. (See Civ. Code § 1668; Tunkl v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (1963) 60 Cal.2d 92, 96–98; A & M Produce Co. v. FMC Corp. (1982) 135 Cal.App.3d 473.)

4.4 Plaintiff's Alleged Government Torture and Emotional Turmoil

4.4.1 Plaintiff contends that from October 2020 to September 2021, Massachusetts Department of Mental Health officials subjected him to forced confinement, misdiagnoses, and other abuses, allegedly violating international treaties such as the United Nations Convention Against Torture (UNCAT).

4.4.2 In September 2024, Plaintiff again experienced forced confinement, exacerbating his emotional fragility and fueling his sense of urgency to conduct open-source cybersecurity research (e.g., "execution hijacking" code for SMBv2) as a deterrent to governmental overreach.

4.4.3 These experiences heightened Plaintiff's distress upon discovering that Twitch's TOS bars him from pursuing the sort of in-depth investigations he believes necessary to expose wrongdoing or protect public interests. The confluence of these factors allegedly contributed to Plaintiff's ongoing emotional harm.

5. CAUSES OF ACTION

COUNT I

BREACH OF CONTRACT

(Against All Defendants)

5.1 Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.

171		171
172	5.2 Formation of Contract	172
173		173
174	5.2.1 Under California Civil Code § 1550, a valid contract requires (1) parties capable of consent, (2) a lawful object,	174
175	(3) consideration, and (4) consent.	175
176	5.2.2 Plaintiff alleges he entered into a subscription contract with Defendants by paying recurring fees in exchange for	176
177	benefits, including the stated “undying love and appreciation.”	177
178	(See also Sateriale v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (9th Cir. 2012) 697 F.3d 777, 788.)	178
179		179
180	5.3 Breach	180
181		181
182	5.3.1 Defendants failed to provide the promised intangible benefit or any semblance of personal “love and	182
183	appreciation.”	183
184	5.3.2 The breach is material because it goes to the heart of the subscription’s advertised value to Plaintiff.	184
185	(See Central Valley Gen. Hosp. v. Smith (2008) 162 Cal.App.4th 501, 513–514 (material breach standard).)	185
186		186
187	5.4 Damages	187
188		188
189	5.4.1 As a direct and proximate result, Plaintiff suffered monetary loss (subscription fees) and severe emotional	189
190	distress due to unmet expectations of personal connection.	190
191	(But see Erlich v. Menezes (1999) 21 Cal.4th 543, 558–559 (limiting emotional distress damages in contract unless	191
192	closely tied to tortious behavior).)	192
193	5.4.2 However, Plaintiff alleges that the breach is intertwined with tortious conduct (fraud/misrepresentation),	193
194	potentially allowing for broader recovery.	194
195	(See Robinson Helicopter Co. v. Dana Corp. (2004) 34 Cal.4th 979, 991.)	195
196		196

202	BREACH OF EXPRESS WARRANTY	202
203	(Against All Defendants)	203
204		204

205	6.1 Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.	205
206		206
207	6.2 Under California law, an express warranty is created by an affirmation of fact or promise that relates to goods or	207

211		211
212	6.3 Express Representation	212
213		213
214	6.3.1 The statement “undying love and appreciation” constituted a specific promise about the nature and quality of the	214
215	subscription service—even if intangible.	215
216	(See Keith v. Buchanan (1985) 173 Cal.App.3d 13, 21 (express warranties can be formed by advertising statements if	216
217	they form the basis of the bargain).)	217
218		218
219	6.4 Breach of Warranty	219
220		220
221	6.4.1 Defendants failed to fulfill that representation. Despite collecting subscription fees, they did not provide any	221
222	actual affection or personal recognition.	222
223	6.4.2 Plaintiff reasonably relied on that warranty, to his detriment.	223
224	(See Weinstat v. Dentsply Int’l, Inc. (2010) 180 Cal.App.4th 1213, 1227–1228 (reliance is presumed when statements	224
225	form part of the bargain).)	225
226		226
227	6.5 Damages	227
228		228
229	6.5.1 Plaintiff seeks damages for the subscription amounts paid, plus any consequential damages allowed under	229
230	California law.	230
231	6.5.2 Plaintiff also reserves the right to seek restitution and incidental damages as permitted by Cal. Com. Code §§	231
232	2714, 2715.	232
233		233
234	COUNT III	234
235	VIOLATION OF THE CONSUMERS LEGAL REMEDIES ACT (CLRA)	235

238		238

239	7.1 Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.	239
240		240
241	7.2 The CLRA prohibits unfair or deceptive acts in the sale or lease of goods or services to consumers.	241
242	(Cal. Civ. Code § 1770(a); see also Colgan v. Leatherman Tool Grp., Inc. (2006) 135 Cal.App.4th 663.)	242
243		243
244	7.3 Misrepresentation	244
245		245
246	7.3.1 Defendants advertised intangible benefits—personal emotional support or affection—as part of the subscription,	246
247	an inherently deceptive tactic when it is never provided.	247
248	(See Cal. Civ. Code § 1770(a)(5), (7).)	248
249	7.3.2 Such conduct may violate Cal. Civ. Code § 1770(a)(5) (misrepresenting characteristics or benefits) and §	249
250	1770(a)(7) (misrepresenting standard or quality).	250
251		251
252	7.4 Reliance and Harm	252
253		253
254	7.4.1 Plaintiff justifiably relied on these statements when purchasing subscriptions.	254
255	(See In re Tobacco II Cases (2009) 46 Cal.4th 298, 312.)	255
256	7.4.2 Plaintiff was harmed when the promised benefits were nonexistent.	256
257		257

270	8.2 The FAL makes it unlawful to disseminate any statement concerning real or personal property or services that is	270
271	untrue or misleading, and which is known (or reasonably should be known) to be untrue or misleading.	271
272	(Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17500; McAdams v. Monier, Inc. (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 174, 186–87.)	272

273		273
274	8.3 False or Misleading Statements	274
275		275
276	8.3.1 Defendants represented that Pokimane subscribers would receive “undying love and appreciation.” This is, at	276
277	best, a misleading marketing ploy that offers unwarranted personal illusions.	277
278	(See Committee on Children’s Television, Inc. v. Gen. Foods Corp. (1983) 35 Cal.3d 197, 211 (broad definition of	278

292	COUNT V	292
293	VIOLATION OF THE UNFAIR COMPETITION LAW (UCL)	293
294	[Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq.]	294
295	(Against All Defendants)	295
296		296
297	9.1 Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.	297
298		298
299	9.2 Under Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200, “unfair competition” includes any unlawful, unfair, or fraudulent business	299
300	act or practice.	300
301	(Cel-Tech Commc’ns, Inc. v. L.A. Cellular Tel. Co. (1999) 20 Cal.4th 163.)	301
302		302
303	9.3 Unlawful	303
304		304
305	9.3.1 Defendants’ conduct violates multiple statutes (e.g., the CLRA, the FAL, or federal anti-money-laundering	305
306	provisions).	306

(See Cel-Tech, supra, at 180; Korea Supply Co. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2003) 29 Cal.4th 1134.)

9.4 Unfair

9.4.1 The TOS restrictions on reverse engineering unduly burden lawful security research and hamper detection of potential money laundering, contravening public policy.

(See Drum v. San Fernando Valley Bar Ass'n (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 247, 257; South Bay Chevrolet v. Gen. Motors Acceptance Corp. (1999) 72 Cal.App.4th 861, 886.)

9.4.2 Similarly, marketing intangible emotional benefits that are not actually provided is unfair and unethical, taking advantage of vulnerable consumers.

9.5 Fraudulent

9.5.1 Defendants' marketing of a safe and transparent platform—while failing to disclose the possibility of suspicious large-scale transactions—and promising intangible emotional benefits never provided is fraudulent under the UCL's broad coverage.

(See In re Tobacco II Cases, supra; Pfizer Inc. v. Superior Court (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 622.)

9.6 Prayer

9.6.1 Plaintiff seeks injunctive relief to prohibit Defendants from enforcing TOS provisions that bar legitimate forensic or security research and from continuing to misrepresent subscription benefits.

9.6.2 Plaintiff also seeks restitution and disgorgement of any ill-gotten gains pursuant to Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17203.

(See Cortez v. Purolator Air Filtration Prods. Co. (2000) 23 Cal.4th 163; Korea Supply, supra.)

COUNT VI

NEGLIGENT OR RECKLESS MISREPRESENTATION

(Against All Defendants)

10.1 Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.

10.2 Negligent or reckless misrepresentation requires:

(1) Misrepresentation of a material fact,

341 (2) Without reasonable grounds for believing it to be true, 341
342 (3) Intent to induce reliance, 342
343 (4) Justifiable reliance, and 343
344 (5) Resulting damage. 344
345 (See Bily v. Arthur Young & Co. (1992) 3 Cal.4th 370, 407–408; Civ. Code §§ 1709–1710.) 345
346 346
347 10.3 Application 347
348 348
349 10.3.1 Defendants’ statements regarding “love and appreciation” were made either recklessly or negligently, without 349
350 regard for whether they could be realistically fulfilled. 350
351 (See Gagne v. Bertran (1954) 43 Cal.2d 481, 487–488 (distinguishing negligence and fraudulent intent).) 351
352 10.3.2 Plaintiff justifiably relied on these statements and suffered damages in the form of subscription fees and 352
353 emotional distress. 353
354 (See Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 637.) 354
355 355
356 10.4 Damages 356
357 357
358 10.4.1 Plaintiff seeks compensatory damages for the subscription fees lost and for emotional harm arising directly 358
359 from the misrepresentations. 359

362 INTENTIONAL OR NEGLIGENT INFLICTION OF EMOTIONAL DISTRESS 362
363 (Against All Defendants) 363
364 364
365 11.1 Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein. 365
366 366
367 11.2 Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress (IIED) 367
368 368
369 11.2.1 A cause of action for IIED requires: 369
370 (1) Extreme and outrageous conduct by the defendant, 370
371 (2) Intent to cause, or reckless disregard of the probability of causing, emotional distress, 371
372 (3) The plaintiff’s suffering severe or extreme emotional distress, and 372
373 (4) Actual and proximate causation. 373
374 (See Hughes v. Pair (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1050; Potter v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (1993) 6 Cal.4th 965, 1001.) 374

375 375

376 11.2.2 Defendants’ conduct in promising personal love—an intrinsically emotional matter—while knowing it was 376

377 illusory or false may be deemed outrageous and intended (or undertaken with reckless disregard) to cause severe 377

378 emotional harm. 378

379 (See KOVR-TV, Inc. v. Superior Court (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 1023, 1030.) 379

380 380

381 11.3 Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress (NIED) 381

382 382

383 11.3.1 Alternatively, if Defendants did not intend to harm Plaintiff, they acted negligently in making statements likely 383

384 to cause emotional turmoil to vulnerable individuals. 384

385 (See Dillon v. Legg (1968) 68 Cal.2d 728; Burgess v. Superior Court (1992) 2 Cal.4th 1064, 1072–1073.) 385

386 11.3.2 California courts have recognized NIED claims in various contexts where a special relationship or 386

387 foreseeability of emotional harm exists. 387

388 (See Molien v. Kaiser Found. Hosps. (1980) 27 Cal.3d 916.) 388

389 389

390 11.4 Severe Emotional Distress 390

391 391

392 11.4.1 Plaintiff’s confinement history and emotional vulnerability magnify the harm from Defendants’ conduct. 392

393 (See Molien, supra, 27 Cal.3d at 928–929.) 393

394 394

395 11.5 Prayer 395

396 396

397 11.5.1 Plaintiff seeks compensatory damages for emotional distress, punitive damages if Defendants’ conduct is found 397

398 sufficiently outrageous, and all other relief deemed just. 398

399 (See Restatement (Second) of Torts § 46, cmt. d; KOVR-TV, Inc. v. Superior Court, supra.) 399

401 6. PRAYER FOR RELIEF 401

402 402

403 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for judgment against Defendants as follows: 403

404 404

405 A. Declaratory Judgment 405

406 1. Declaring that Twitch’s TOS restrictions on reverse engineering are unconscionable, void, or unenforceable under 406

407 California law and public policy; 407

408 2. Declaring that advertisements or marketing referencing “undying love and appreciation” are deceptive or 408 misleading if not genuinely provided;

B. Injunctive Relief

1. Enjoining Twitch from enforcing TOS that prohibit good-faith, lawful security or forensic research aimed at detecting potential money laundering or other illegal activities;
2. Enjoining Defendants from advertising intangible emotional benefits (e.g., “love” or “appreciation”) without making clear that these are entertainment-only or purely figurative statements;
3. Requiring corrective advertising and disclosure of the speculative or figurative nature of intangible benefits;

C. Restitution, Disgorgement, and Damages

1. Restitution and/or disgorgement of subscription fees and any ill-gotten gains derived from misleading promises;
2. Compensatory and consequential damages for emotional distress and related harm;
3. Punitive damages as allowed by law, given the potential outrageousness of false emotional promises;

D. CLRA & FAL Remedies

1. Awarding all remedies authorized under the Consumers Legal Remedies Act and False Advertising Law, including actual damages, injunctive relief, and, where permitted, attorneys’ fees and costs (though Plaintiff is pro se);

E. Costs and Other Relief

EXHIBIT 1: Twitch Terms of Sale and Pokimane (subsequently Pokimane LLC) sold her ‘undying love and appreciation’ as a subscription product continuously from 2013 - 2020, and Pokimane is the most followed female TV channel on Twitch! A “gamin” website!

Subscription Service Terms

Twitch may offer certain Ancillary Products and Services in connection with the Twitch Services on a subscription basis with recurring payments ("Subscription Services") as disclosed to you when you subscribe to any Subscription Services. Subscription Services may renew automatically, and you agree that we are authorized to charge you for payment on a recurring basis prior to each renewal. You agree that your Subscription Service will renew continuously until you cancel it. Twitch reserves the right to discontinue or modify any subscription fee payment option. If we discontinue or modify a subscription payment option, we will provide notice of such discontinuance or modification by email or through the Twitch Services in advance of the next billing date. If you are signing up under any promotional subscription fee, some additional restrictions may apply. These restrictions, if any, will be provided to you before you sign up for the applicable Subscription Service that is subject to the promotion.

You are responsible for all charges incurred under your account. Twitch reserves the right to deactivate Subscription Services to your account if payment is past due, regardless of the dollar amount.

- Plaintiff discovered Twitch on the iOS App Store and then found out about Twitch allegedly selling Pokimane’s “undying love and appreciation” on a subscription basis—“a deal much better than typical prostitutes.”

EXHIBIT 3: Twitch user and fanatic Joe Doe, whom the Plaintiff terms "Mirror Image" alleges that the Plaintiff merely worked as a hardworking and productive Amazonian delivery driver, which was why Twitch Legal and Pokimane did not deliver the promised subscription benefits.

regular Chinese who did not seem battle ready at all; even washing time

Unfortunately this is where some of the missing Tweets would have been helpful. But what I have gathered, Bo used to work as a delivery driver of sorts. During this time, he became infatuated with Pokimane and gave her over $2000 in donations, subscriptions, gift subscriptions etc. Now, this isn't uncommon. Twitch simps have existed since streamers had a donation button. But, in Bo's case, he misunderstood one line of Pokimanes subscription box. "My undying love and appreciation ^_^" to mean that if you subscribe, Pokimane will literally love you. So Bo kept giving and giving.

Bo thinks anything in the subscription box is a contractual agreement

EXHIBIT 4: Pokimane actually believes that she has the right to 'not be sexualized' without her explicit consent. Her stance is as ironic as Big Donald nominating Little Marco to represent the United States in foreign relations.

Q: What's the proper way of jerking off? this is CS50 你好吗

A: Under certain moral frameworks, stealth and discretion apply. Intel suggests Pokimane insists on explicit prior consent—"ask her first." Summation: maintain all relevant codes of courtesy and operational secrecy.

2nd amendment full statute

The Second Amendment to the United States Constitution is a part of the Bill of Rights and was adopted on December 15, 1791. The full text of the Second Amendment is as follows:

"A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed."

This amendment has been the subject of extensive debate and interpretation, particularly regarding the extent to which it protects an individual's right to own and carry firearms versus the collective right of states to maintain militias. The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled on several cases that have shaped the
